Background on Malaysian Technical Cooperation Programme

The Malaysian Technical Cooperation Programme (MTCP) was officially launched on 7 September 1980 at the Commonwealth Heads of State Meeting in New Delhi, India, to signify Malaysia's commitment to the South-South Cooperation, in particular Technical Cooperation among Developing Countries (TCDC).

The MTCP emphasises on the development of human resources through the provision of trainings in various areas which are essential for a country's development such as the public administration, good governance, health, education, sustainable development, agriculture, poverty alleviation, economy and finance, ICT and environment.

Annually, Malaysia offered more than 65 capacity-building and technical assistance programmes under the MTCP, which have benefited more than 34,000 participants from 144 countries.

Objectives of MTCP

- To share the development experience with other countries;
- To strengthen bilateral relations between Malaysia and other developing countries;
- To promote South-South Cooperation (SSC); and
- To promote the technical cooperation among developing countries.

Background on Malaysian Technology Development Corporation

MTDC, a company wholly-owned by Khazanah Nasional Malaysia, is in the business of Grant Management, Advisory and Nurturing Services. In addition, MTDC also manages Technology Centres which focus on various industry clusters and located at several universities and research institute.

The company was set up by the Government of Malaysia in 1992 to spearhead the development of technology businesses in Malaysia. Its role is to promote the commercialisation of local research and invest in technology-based ventures as well as to groom new generation of Technopreneurs through comprehensive nurturing services.

Since the 7th Malaysia Plan, MTDC has also been entrusted by the Government to manage grants specific for Malaysian companies to increase their technology content via commercialisation of local research and development (R&D) and/or acquisition of foreign technology.
